PUT IT DOWN LOOK AROUND

Train Safety Awareness Week

September 24-30, is designated as National Train Safety Awareness Week, reminding us all to be safe when onboard, at stations and when crossing train tracks. SunRail is creating its own Train Safety Awareness campaign – which kicks off on Monday with social media, digital images and outdoor billboards. SunRail has also worked with local law enforcement and first responders to promote the new campaign through education and enforcement days. Tie, SunRail's safety squirrel mascot will be making onboard appearances Friday, September 29.

"We invite our businesses, local government and other community partners to join in with SunRail to promote train safety next week," said Nicola Liquori, SunRail CEO. "Our team has put together a package of digital and printed materials, which we are happy to share with our business partners. SunRail has 144 grade crossings along our corridor, and so it is vital that we remind ourselves, our co-workers and others to be smart and safe around all train tracks."
